A conference by Aboriginal Amelioration Societies will be held in the Friends' Meeting House, 20 Russell Street, tomorrow, at 8 p.m. The question of the advisability of forming a council to co-ordinate the work of ameliorative societies will be considered, also educative facilities for aborigines of full or mixed blood throughout the Commonwealth. Among the speakers will be Mr. A. Burdeu, president of the Australian Aborigines League; Mrs. Mackenzie, president of the Victorian Aboriginal Group; Mr. N. Morley, founder of the Australian Aborigines Amelioration Society of Western Australia; and representatives of the United Missionary Council and Anthropological Society.
